Work In Europe

Job opportunities in Europe this summer . . . Work this summer in the forests of Germany, on construction in Austria, on farms in Germany, Sweden and Denmark, in hotels in Switzerland. Well there are these jobs available as well as jobs in England, France, Italy and Holland to American university students coming to Europe the next summer.

For several years students made their way across the Atlantic through A.E.S.-Service to take part in the actual life of the people of these countries. The success of this project has caused a great deal of enthusiastic interest and support both in America and Europe.

Every year, the program has been expanded to include many more students and jobs. Already, many students have made application for next summer jobs. American-European Student Service (on a non-profitable basis) is offering these jobs to students for Germany, Scandinavia, England, Austria, Switzerland, France, Italy and

"Pocket Wilderness"

A pristine, virtually undisturbed "pocket wilderness" called Lewis Island officially became part of Georgia's Heritage Trust ceremonies here (Friday) Jan. 4.

The 5,600 acre island located in the Altamaha estuary has been appraised at nearly $1 million but was sold to the state by Georgia-Pacific Corp. for less than half the appraised value. Lewis Island is important ecologically as a vital part of one of the last remaining Southern river swamp systems in the Southeast.

Art Display

An exhibition of serigraphs and paintings by two artists well-known in their field in the Southeast went on display in the Porter Fine Arts Gallery on Jan. 6. The exhibition, open to the public, will continue through Jan. 27.

Artists represented will be Anne Wall Thomas of Chapel Hill, N.C. and Patricia Minser McDonald of Atlanta.

Mrs. Thomas is a former member of the University of Georgia art faculty. She also taught in the Charlotte, N.C. public school system. Mrs. Thomas earned a master of fine arts degree at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. Mrs. McDonald, who earned her M.F.A. degree at Georgia, is a native of Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Both have shown their works in regional and national exhibits. Gallery hours are from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and on weekends by appointment.

A music director who insists on academic excellence in his singers as well as musical ability led the Morehouse College Glee Club in its Jan. 16 performance at Georgia College.

An outstanding pupil of the founder of the glee club, Dr. Wendell P. Whalum became conductor of the musical aggregation in 1952. Whalum, chairman of the music department at Morehouse, also shares with the Spelman College Glee Club director the job of conducting the combined Morehouse and Spelman Chorus.

Dr. Whalum, who received his bachelor's degree from Morehouse, his master's degree from Columbia University, and his Ph.D. degree from the University of Iowa, has held committee positions with the Ford Foundation, the Danforth Foundation, the Phelps-Stokes Fund, and the Atlanta Symphony.

Spain. The jobs consist of forestry work, child care work (females only), farm work, hotel work (limited number available), construction work, and some other more qualified jobs requiring more specialized training.

The purpose of this program is to afford the student an opportunity to get into real living contact with the people and customs of Europe. In this way, a concrete effort can be made to learn something of the culture of Europe. In return for his or her work, the student will receive his or her room and board, plus a wage. However, student should keep in mind that they will be working on the European economy and wages will naturally be scaled accordingly. The working conditions (hours, safety, regulations, legal protection, work permits) will be strictly controlled by the labor ministries of the countries involved.

In most cases, the employers have requested especially for American students. Hence, they are particularly interested in the student and want to make the work as interesting as possible.

They are all informed of the intent of the program, and will help the student all they can in deriving the most from his trip to Europe.

Please write for further information and application forms to: American-European Student-Service, Box 34733, FL 9490 Vaduz, Liechtenstein (Europe).

Morehouse-Original Soul

He is currently researching black folk music and lecturing and consulting in the U.S. and abroad.

Whalum holds memberships on the college board of trustees and in Phi Beta Kappa.

The concert, presented in the First Methodist Church in Milledgeville, is the third offering of the Georgia College Lyceum Committee.

The glee club has a long and impressive record that dates back to 1911. Some of the more recent accomplishments include its selection in 1969 as one of three choral groups in the U.S. to participate in the Second International Choral Festival at Lincoln Center, performances in five countries in Africa in 1972, and appearances with Robert Shaw and the Atlanta Symphony.

The concert included selections by the full men's chorus, several soloists, and a quartet.

Energy At GC

Georgia College, in compliance with State and Federal guidelines relative to the conservation of energy, has implemented a program of austerity effective upon the close of the current academic quarter on December 21 according to President J. Whitney Bunting. The College is currently one of the largest users of gas, electricity and water in Baldwin County and uses substantial quantities of No. 2 fuel oil as a supplementary energy source.

1) All academic buildings will be closed promptly at 5 p.m. each day following classes with the exception of those necessary for the evening college program. The latter group will be certified as necessary by Dean William Simpson. Academic building thermostats will be set at 68 degrees.

2) A program of education for energy conservation will be undertaken for students and faculty to insure that unnecessary lighting is minimized and that windows and doors remain closed to prevent heat loss. Current lighting facilities will be surveyed to curtail excess lighting of buildings on the campus.

3) All external ornamental lighting will be discontinued immediately. Night lighting for student safety reasons will be maintained but will be curtailed after 12 midnight.

4) Outdoor lighting of tennis courts will be stopped.

5) Dormitories will have thermostats pre-set for 68 degree temperatures and domestic hot water supplied by the College will be reduced from 140 to 120 degrees.

6) Maxwell College Union will be closed at 9 p.m. daily and heating and lighting will be reduced during "off" periods for conservation purposes.

7) The library will be open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays and from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. on Fridays. It will close all day Saturdays and reopen on Sundays from 6 p.m. until 10 p.m.

8) The use of any energy source in unused buildings or spaces, either academic or dormitory, will be prohibited.

9) Faculty or staff persons traveling on official business in personal cars should maintain a top speed of 50 miles per hour. It is anticipated that this will also be observed for personal driving.

10) All special electrical and cooking equipment in dormitory and living areas is prohibited not only for energy conservation but for fire regulations as well.

11) All buildings and facilities will be closed entirely during vacation periods.

President Bunting indicated that the above mentioned measures may be broadened to include other regulations if the energy crisis becomes greater or if it appears that more severe regulations become necessary.

Presidential Impeachment Poll Results

A national opinion poll of conservative Republicans reveals that an overwhelming majority oppose Presidential impeachment or resignation.

The poll, conducted by the Campus Conservative Pack program, was conducted this fall among long-time conservatives and GOP supporters.

In response to the question, "Should President Nixon be impeached?" 85 percent of the approximately 70,000 persons responding opposed Presidential impeachment. Only 7 percent of the conservatives who responded to this question favor Nixon's impeachment.

A similar response resulted from the question, "Should President Nixon resign?" 84 percent of the conservative Republicans polled oppose Presidential resignation. Only 9 percent favored resignation.

GC Pianist To Perform

David Watkins of the music faculty at Georgia College will present a piano recital featuring the works of Schoenberg, Bach, Debussy, and Scriabine on Monday, Jan. 21, in Porter Auditorium on the GC campus.

The recital, free and open to the public, will begin at 8 p.m.

Watkins, now in his second year at the college, earned two degrees in music from the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston. Before coming to GC, he taught at the Eastern Music Festival on the Guilford College campus in North Carolina.

On Friday, Jan. 18, he will perform at the Georgia Music Educators' Association convention in Atlanta.

What A Mess!

Yes, this is another article on the conditions in the Student Union. But, I want to say something no one else has said. When cigarettes and trash go somewhere besides in the ashtrays or trash cans or when people track mud inside because they are too lazy to wipe their feet it doesn't hurt them! It doesn't hurt me. It doesn't even hurt Miss Donahoe or Mr. Wood. As far as I'm concerned it doesn't hurt the school's image. The one person it does hurt is the man who is responsible for keeping the bottom floor of Maxwell orderly. He gets paid for a job, and every piece of refuse he has to dispose of is overtime for which he will never get paid. Abe is my brother, and I will never consciously cause him extra work. Is he your brother?

BCCWC

The Baldwin County Community Chorus will present its annual winter concert at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, Feb. 6, in Russell Auditorium at Georgia College as the opening event in a three-day music festival at the college.

The 100-voice chorus, under the direction of Martin Bittick, will sing Franz Schubert's "Mass in G" and Randall Thompson's contemporary work, "A Feast of Praise."

The GC Women's Choral, a part of the chorus, will present Vincent Persichetti's "Winter Cantata" during the program.

The music festival will also feature the Atlanta Little Symphony Orchestra directed by Alan Balter in Concert at 8 p.m. on Thursday, Feb. 7, also in Russell Auditorium on the campus.

Pianist Roger Lawson of El Dorado, Ark., will present a concert in Russell at 8 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 8, as the concluding event in the musical series.

The Community Chorus concert will be accompanied for the "Mass in G" by a chamber orchestra comprised of outstanding GC and Atlanta String Academy students. The college brass choir, which has been rehearsed for the concert by Dr. Robert Wolfersteig, will accompany the choir in "A Feast of Praise."

The traditional Schubert mass and the modern Thompson work will constitute the third annual concert for the Community Chorus, a group of GC students and faculty and local teachers, clergymen, secretaries, and laborers.

The "Mass in G" is the second of six masses by Schubert scored for small orchestra and chorus. "A Feast of Praise", first performed in 1963, is a musical setting for three Biblical verses scored for chorus and brass choir.

The Women's Choral is a 45-member group organized in 1935 by Dr. Max Noah, a former chairman of the college music department and now a resident of St. Simons Island.

The Choral's selection for the concert is a compilation of Japanese Haiku verse found in "A Net of Fireflies" as translated by Harold Stewart. "The Winter Cantata" features Marilyn Foster of Griffin on the flute and Sarah Mann of Hattiesburg, Miss., on the marimba.

All festival events are free and open to the public.

Brigadoon Appears

The musical play Brigadoon is set for Milledgeville Community Concert ticket holders and Georgia College students at 8:00 p.m. on January 25 in Russell Auditorium on the Georgia College campus.

Brigadoon, acclaimed as one of the best musical plays in stage history, combines beautiful music, spirited choreography, colorful sets and costumes with a story that is both enormously funny and moving. Winner of the New York Critics' Circle Award, this delightful musical fantasy by Lerner & Loewe, the authors of My Fair Lady, Gigi and Camelot, has captivated the hearts of theatregoers and critics all over the world. Hailed at its premiere, produced plays ever to come out of the musical's prestige continues to grow even greater, and it is now a classic along with such all-time hits as Show Boat, Carousel, South Pacific, and Oklahoma.

One of the most frequently of Broadway, it has had six professional revivals in New York City alone — testimony to the fact that Brigadoon is a play to see and love not once, but many times.

Don Grilley and Lesley Stewart, married for six years, are the stars of this production. They will be accompanied by an ensemble of over 20 talented actors, singers, dancers and musicians, who will bring the magical world of Brigadoon to life.

The Lerner and Loewe score consists of one hit song after another. Alternately funny, lyrical and boisterous, each musical number is a gem. "It's Almost Like Being in Love," "Heather on the Hill," "Come to Me, Bend to Me," "There But For You Go I," to name a few, are all standards and among the finest ever written for the musical stage.

Georgia College?

Where Is That?

Being a transfer student here last quarter from a large junior college, I looked on Georgia College as a small town school not known by anyone further than fifty miles away. I soon changed my opinion to a complete reversal. True, the school is small in comparison to Georgia State, Georgia University, and even Georgia Southern. What I learned will have an important place in my life from now on, that size has nothing to do with quality.

On an academic scale of all colleges and universities in the state of Georgia, our campus rates second. That is really

New Science Degree

A master of science degree in public administration has been approved by the University System Board of Regents for Georgia College, according to Dr. Ralph W. Hemphill, coordinator of public administration programs at the college.

The total program in public administration at GC consists of 60 quarter hours of graduate credit. The curriculum is divided into 30 quarter hours of core courses which cover the spectrum of basic management tools and personnel techniques and 30 hours in specialized study of public policy determination.

Core courses will include management theory, communications theory, human resources, decision theory, organization theory, and systems analysis and design. Specialized courses will be in government organization and administration theory, public personnel administration, administrative law, public finance, public administration theory, state and local administration, and American public administration. The new program also provides an off-campus internship in government.

Dear Student Body

Dear Student Body, I am a new student here at Ga. College and I have several questions which I can't get any answers. First of all, why do Home Economics majors have to live and eat with the dearly beloved housemommie in the Home Management House? They have to eat with her, be polite and act like little delicate dummies, which is really stupid. My next question is, why are Sanford Dorm Women having to move into that awful, sordid chamber of horrors Napier Dorm. Do the women not know what kind of place Napier Dorm really is? Several of my friends have informed me that the house dictator and the honorable guards that try to guard the fort in which the house dictator liveth in are most stupid and a disgrace to all of the dorm residents. Moving right along, does "historic" Ga. College have a better place for its dances? I've heard that dances are always held in the cafeteria. Can't they be held elsewhere, without having to remind us of that sickening garbage they serve us mortal individuals. Why not in the basement of Atkinson Building. It's big and spacious and not as stomach turning as the place that they call the cafeteria. So much for my few gripes; I hope I can receive some logical explanation. Que Sera Sera!

String Along

"Pay now, pick later" will be the theme of a course in beginning guitar scheduled at Georgia College on a non-credit basis during the winter quarter.

The guitar course, one of five continuing education short courses to be offered by the college, will be taught by Mrs. Linda Stanford of Milledgeville at 7:30 p.m. every Monday for eight weeks beginning on Jan. 21.

Mrs. Stanford has taught previously at the Lakeland (Fla.) School of Music and at Bryce State Hospital in Tuscaloosa, Ala.

The first hour of each class will be devoted to group lessons in how to read guitar music and how to play chords. During the second hour, students in the class will break up into small interest groups and play for fun.

Other courses to be offered at GC during the winter quarter will be principles of small business management, first aid, and two in real estate.

The course in business management will be geared for the independent businessman interested in such facets of daily operation as accounting, work scheduling, and merchandising.

The course in first aid will include instruction and practice in the standard and accepted principles of emergency treatment.

One course in real estate will prepare students to take the real estate salesman's examination given by the state ten times a year. The other, for brokers, will cover many aspects of real estate including contracts, law, valuation, and finance.

The first aid and real estate broker's course will be offered on Mondays, the real estate salesman's course on Tuesday, and the small business management course on Wednesdays.

Complete information concerning registration, class locations, times that the courses will be taught, and fees can be obtained by dialing 452-5541 and asking for either extension 203 or 227.

Curse Of The Colonnade

by Walter Young

Once again the curse of the Colonnade has struck, causing another Editor-in-Chief to be brought onto the battlefield of journalistic attempts. Yes, Editor Walter Young has fallen victim to the assaults of the Academe and another valiant warrior has come onto the battlefield to once more take up the cause in the name of journalism and student press.

Who is the bold Valkyrie? She is Suellen Griggs and may her valor not desert her in the midst of strife!

I, The Fool

I, the Fool, sit here
Alone
Because I did not know
That I loved you —
Until it was too Late.

I enjoyed your company, Basked in the warmth of your smile;
I held your hand
And felt your presence.
With you I was at Peace.
And yet I did not Want to admit that I was in love with
You.

Now you've gone to Another.
I shall never know
The happiness I knew
When you were with me —
The oneness I felt is Gone
To be felt no more.

I did not want to Recognize the love I held
For you
Until too late.

And now,
Now
I, the Fool, sit here
Alone
Regretting, Wishing
For you,
Because, unknown to you,
I honestly did love you,

The years just softly peel away
I try to reach them; try to make them stay
For the future's unclear, and loneliness I fear Comes in darkness to take whatever's due.

And now as evening fills the sky
I bow my head and I sadly cry Yet in my heart I know that I'll make it on my own
And I'll stop only once just to say good-by
To the hills of yesterday.

To Spirit

Out of the darkness you came
And like a star you lit the way Down from the heavens you came
In radiant perplexity to challenge my day

For you touched me
and part of you became me
So as I walked away, the part of you I kept, just became to be

I did so want to know you
And for you to be my friend
So for the brief time we shared
I took memories that will never end

For all of your tomorrows
And all of your todays
I'll always want the best for you
For you were my friend one day

And always will be
For I saw you smile

The Night Before New Year's

by Suellen Griggs

Twins the night before New Year's
and all through the place everyone was scurrying to leave in great haste.
For a New Year's party was next on the agenda
and we sure wouldn't get there just looking out of the window.

At the party everybody was happy and gay,
who wouldn't with all the booze
these folks put away!
And I can not say I wasn't part of the crowd,
when one would say, want a drink? Yes! I'd said loud.
I had so much fun with the jokes
and games,
by the end of the night, I'd almost forgotten my name!

The morning after soon came with a crash and a bang.
I woke up at 5:00 with a terrible pain.
With everyone else all snuggled
in bed,
the Miami Dolphins were stomping through my poor little head.

The moral of my story is simple and brief.
Leave off the booze and you'll be able to sleep.
But should you forget and not know what to do, take four aspirin, go to bed, and forget about school!
So it is much simpler as I'm sure you can see,
leave it alone and be headache
free!

Never

(or "The State of Progression")

There was a time when I said that I'd never speak to you.
A small time passed and I spoke to you only because never is such a long time not to be speaking.
Then I said to myself one day as I was walking that never, never would I get to know you or let you know me. But as things are and as things will be, we both thought it so drastically perille to speak to each other practically every day and not get to know each other. Then as time passed I told myself that although I was your friend, I'd never love you. But some things I'm afraid you just can't control. So, now every morning when I awaken I vow that I'll never stop loving you, which should last for quite a while since never is such a long time!

What is it that I feel for you?
I think it is love,
the tenderest, purest,
most passionate of loves,
Yet I have never held your hand.
I'm too old for crushes,
And so it must be real,
So real that no contract is needed.
Even though I deserve it.

Perhaps I should make myself think.
I could be that I am,
Without your knowledge making you into more than you are,
or could ever be.
You've never asked me to make you my idol.

I cannot believe that when I first met you,
long ago, I dismissed you.
You were plain, ordinary a dull, quiet man, in the midst of witty company.
Had you not trumped
My ace of diamonds,
I would not have remembered
you.

Then I saw you again,
I talked to you and you looked well, you didn't look so plain, as before.
I thought that at a later date,
at my convenience, you would have the pleasure of taking me out

After a while, you suited my time table,
How I underestimated you.
For I still have not suited yours.
I've done all I could do,
without exposing my soul to open rejection, and still, we are good acquaintances.

I cannot understand myself,
I hate anyone who receives a moment of your attention;
Each time I see you,
you look more unique your mind becomes more extraordinary.
You dominate my thoughts,
You have become . . .

Now A Lang-Frat

Twenty-nine students will be initiated into the newly-formed Georgia College chapter of Alpha Mu Gamma, a national foreign language society, on Tuesday, Feb. 5, at the Holiday Inn in Milledgeville.

The club, open to any college student who has made two A's in any college language course or who is a native of a country where English is not the native tongue, seeks to recognize achievement in the field of foreign languages, to encourage language study, and to foster international friendship.

Ruth Hambrick of Perry is the new president of the organization.

Peace Corps and VISTA representatives will be on the GC campus at the Student Union on January 28th and 29th from 9:00 to 5:00. Peace Corps is especially interested in Business, Home Economics, Education, Math and Science majors and those with farm backgrounds. VISTA is seeking Business, Social Science, Education, Home Economics, and general Liberal Arts majors.

Peace Corps is a two-year program in Latin America, Africa, Asia and the South Pacific. VISTA is a one-year program in urban and rural poverty areas of the U.S. Both programs pay a living allowance, travel expenses and medical care.

Those interested in either program should stop by to talk to George Fenigsohn or Lucy Walker, both of whom are former volunteers.

Just An Old Fashion Love Song

The Home Economics Department, with the aid of various stores here in Milledgeville, has planned for the benefit of students and surrounding community members, a complete Bridal Fashion Fair to be held on January 31.

The fair will include exhibits of tableware, photography displays, floral arrangements, catering services, and a bridal fashion show featuring Spring fashions of 1974.

The fashion show, being the big attraction, will feature a gown first worn in 1814. Donated by Mrs. Marcia Carnes, the gown, along with several others, is hopefully to be used in a historic dress display. Mrs. Carnes wore the gown for her wedding, originally made for her great-grandmother.

Students in Historic Dress are currently researching the dress of that age to determine the style of accessories used in the wedding ceremony. Other students are responsible for the various committees in preparing for the show, modeling the gowns, and producing the final product. Cheryl Hulsey, a senior majoring in fashion marketing, is chairman of the bridal display.

It is hoped that everyone will make plans in his schedule to attend this interesting and educational program. It will be shown at 8:00, January 31 in Chappell Auditorium. No admission will be charged.

Veterans Organize

More than 30 veterans have organized the Veterans Association of Georgia College in the past few weeks under the direction of Karl F. Wilson, the new GC veterans counselor who is working in the area of veteran recruitment and advisement.

Wilson is the former director of counseling, testing, and research at Paine College. A native of Americus and an Army veteran, he received his B.A. degree from Allen University in South Carolina and his M.A. from North Carolina Central University.

When Wilson began at GC, he realized a need for unifying the more than 300 veterans attending the college. "They all share a common background and many are very talented, active, and concerned with their present educational goals, future lives, and the college in general," says Wilson.

He further points out that much of the information available to vets is not reaching them. Talking to these men and women on a daily basis brought about the idea to organize the veterans, he noted. Along with Dr. Bobby J. Dooley, a retired Navy commander and professor of business administration and economics at GC, Wilson will be a faculty advisor.

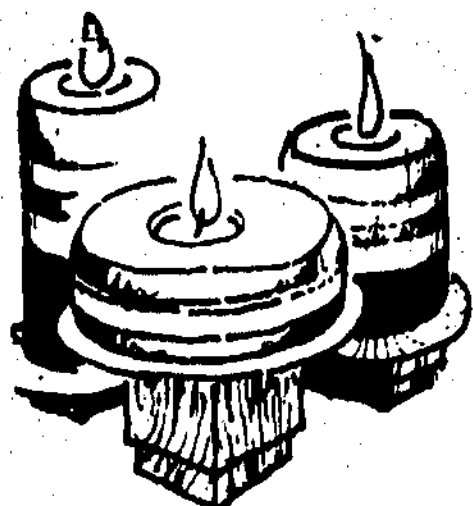

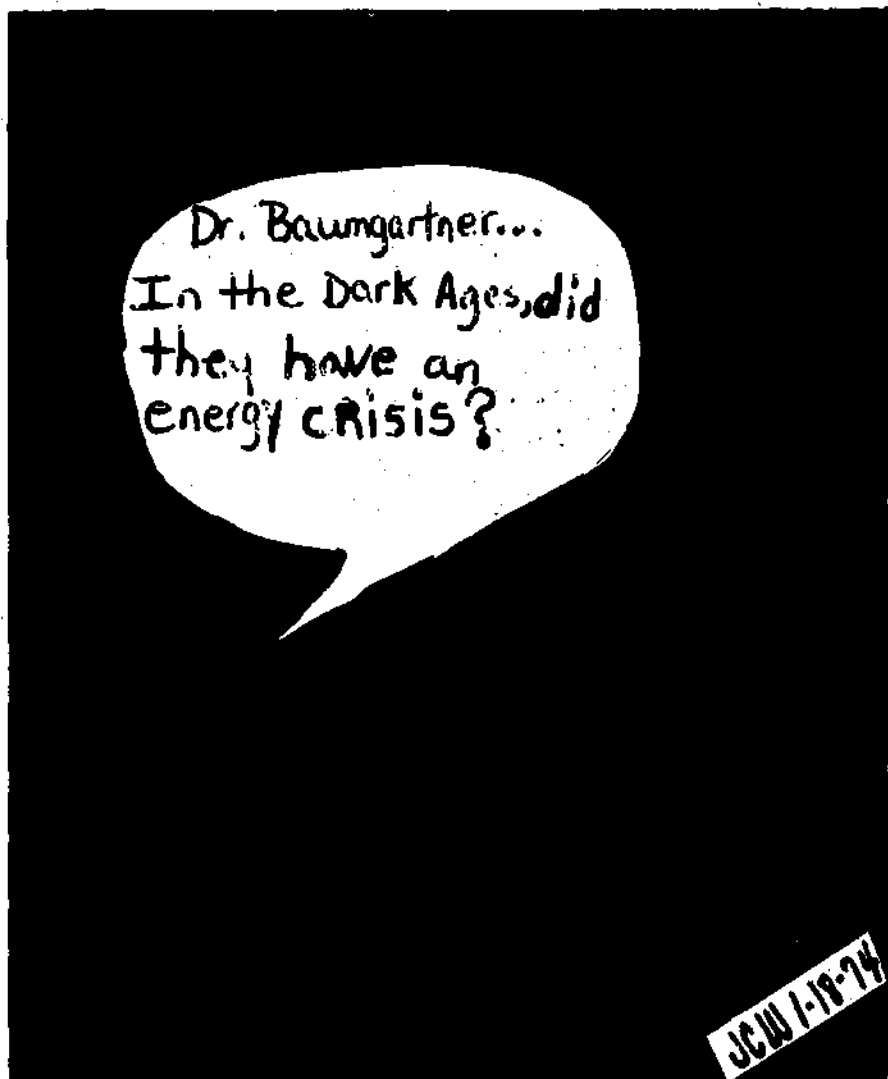

The purpose of the association is to establish a social and service organization for GC men and women who have served honorably in the U.S. armed forces and to promote the bonds of good fellowship created by this common experience in the accomplishment of their educational and occupational goals.

The association proposes to provide liaison between the veterans attending the college, the administration, and faculty. Other goals will be to promote the prestige of the Veteran students throughout the campus and the community, create a sense of unity among veterans, observe national holidays, provide a means for veterans to locate suitable tutorial assistance within their own group when required, encourage all veteran students to maintain sight of their educational goals and purposes and represent all veterans attending GC on campus and in the community.

The association will also publish a monthly newsletter for all member veterans regarding activities and regional news. Membership into the association is open to all veterans who are attending GC. Associate membership is available to students on VA benefits who are not veterans.

Larry Hall of Atlanta, was recently elected president of the association. Other officers are Norris Miller of Milledgeville, vice-president; Alan Gavel of Macon, treasurer; Wade Waller of Milledgeville, secretary; Tom Till of Macon, special projects officer; Hugh David Richardson of Milledgeville, educational assistance (tutorial) officer; and Wayne Wilson of Milledgeville, public relations officer.

Several community projects will be undertaken by the veterans, along with programs to reach other veterans in the community who have recently been discharged and who are not aware of their benefits.
